

Announcement:

Due to forecasted severe weather and heightened precautions surrounding the spread of the novel coronavirus, the choir concert scheduled for tonight at Meigs County High School has been canceled. This decision was based on the fact that we are anticipating a large crowd of people, which will be congregating in a small venue, and all proactive measures are being taken at this time. We are truly sorry for the inconvenience this may cause to students and families. The health and safety of our school community is our top priority today, as well as moving forward.
